

Meet our local producers

The year was 1927. The twenties were roaring along when eighteen-year old George Zenner Sr. opened Zenner's Market on Northeast Glisan at 53rd in Portland, Oregon. With his father on board, and decades of smoked meat and sausage making experience behind them, Zenner's Market began establishing a tradition of quality that their seasoned staff maintain and build upon to this day.

90 years later, Zenner's is still family owned and continues to please crowds young and old throughout the Northwest.

“Bagel Sphere opened in 1995 in downtown Eugene. Thanks to the support of all of you in our local community, we have been able to stay in that same spot on 8th and Willamette for 23 years, fulfilling bagel cravings and opening sleepy eyes with double shots of espresso and good, hot coffee. As we grew, we opened (and later closed) a location in Thurston, built our central bakery in West Eugene and opened Novella Cafe in the downtown Eugene Public Library. Several local cafes, grocery stores, and schools serve our bagels as well. We are so blessed to be a part of this community. Thank you for your years of support! We look forward to serving you well for years to come! “

Fresh Elements Farms It's all about fresh!

Fresh Elements began in Oregon where the heart of our US berry industry specializes in full line supply of berry related products in the most convenient and freshest forms regardless if they are IQF/frozen fruits, sweetened dried berries, purees, jams or juice.
